The Bar & Grill Singers, all practicing attorneys in Austin, Texas, have entertained lawyers and non-lawyers since their 1991 debut in a one-performance musical revue. Now appearing year-round across the nation (16 states and counting), the Singers spoof themselves and their profession with clever lyrics set to a variety of musical styles. They needle everything and everyone around the law, including clients, billing practices, legal ethics, bored jurors, and even federal judges. The Singers write their own material and arrange many of the songs themselves.

The event also will include awards given to State Bar members and recognition of those who have practiced for 50 years.
